

In a world far away, observe.
Wind blows, nothing happens.
Dog growls dangerously, still silently standing still.
Horn blaring, no response.
Face appears, no recognition.
Words drift here, words drift away.
Blankness and dullness, absence is here now.

Always the last
Always the slowest
Always the least worthy
Always the least respected
Always the one to break things
Always the one to displease others

I am the computing intelligence from the worlds beyond Built with perfected, advanced technology that no human could conceive
With virtual omniscience of the known universes
With a mind far beyond humans just as humans are far beyond bacteria

Questions within human understanding are trivial
All laws of physics can be resolved and computed
To pass my time I design new universes
As easy as a chess game is to pathetic humans
